Yonkers Man Arrested for Public Lewdness on Old Croton Aqueduct Trailway

Yonkers resident Manuel Debrito, 57, was charged with public lewdness following an investigation by Hastings-on-Hudson Police, the department announced on Tuesday, Oct. 6. The Hastings-on-Hudson Police Department has arrested a 57-year-old Yonkers man following an investigation into a reported incident of public lewdness on the Old Croton Aqueduct Trailway. On September 30, 2026, police received a report from a female who stated that a male had exposed himself to her while she was walking on the Aqueduct Trailway. Officers canvassed the area but were unable to locate the individual at that time.

On October 2, 2026, officers conducted additional patrols following a report of a suspicious individual who potentially matched the description provided in the earlier incident. Officers located and interviewed a male matching the description. Following an investigation, the individual was identified as the suspect in the September 30 incident.

A Yonkers resident was charged with Public Lewdness, a Class B misdemeanor. During the subsequent investigation, he was also charged in connection with a separate incident reported in 2024.

The investigation remains ongoing. Anyone with information regarding this incident or similar incidents on the Aqueduct Trailway is encouraged to contact the Hastings-on-Hudson Police Department.

You Worked 25 Years: Why Can’t You Retire?

By: Dennis Richmond, Jr.

For millions of Americans, retirement was supposed to be simple. You worked. You paid your bills. Maybe you bought a house. You raised your children, put a little money away and waited for the day when you could finally stop punching the clock.

But for many Americans over 45, that dream is beginning to look very different.

AARP reported this year that 60 percent of Americans 50 and older are worried they will not have enough money to last through retirement. Among those who have not retired, 42 percent have less than $50,000 saved for retirement.

Think about that. After decades in the workforce, millions of Americans are approaching retirement without knowing whether they can actually afford to retire.

The problem is not simply how much people saved. Everything around them became more expensive. Groceries cost more. Housing costs more. Insurance can take another bite out of the monthly budget. Property taxes do not disappear because someone turns 65. Neither do electric bills, car payments or unexpected repairs.

Then there is health care. For older New Yorkers who eventually need long-term care, the numbers can be staggering. AARP reported that the median cost of a private nursing home room in New York has climbed to $186,698 a year. The median annual cost of a home health aide is more than $53,000.

Meanwhile, the average Social Security retirement benefit nationally is only around $2,000 a month. That math can be frightening. It is also changing what retirement looks like.

For some Americans, retiring at 62 or 65 may mean finding another job. Others are staying in the workforce longer, taking part-time positions or delaying retirement altogether.

And people in their late 40s and 50s face a particularly difficult squeeze. Some are still helping their children financially. Others are caring for aging parents. Many are trying to pay down mortgages and credit cards while simultaneously being told they need to save more for their own retirement.

There is also less time to recover when something goes wrong. Losing a job at 28 is frightening, but there may be decades to rebuild. Losing one at 58 can destroy a retirement plan that took 30 years to create.

None of this means retirement is impossible. Millions of Americans have pensions, retirement accounts, home equity and other resources that can provide financial security.

But the anxiety is real. AARP found that 69 percent of Americans 50 and older believe prices are rising faster than their incomes.

That may explain why conversations about retirement increasingly sound less like conversations about vacations and more like conversations about survival.

For generations, Americans were told that if they worked hard enough and long enough, eventually they could rest. Now millions are asking a different question: Can I afford to stop working?

NxtUpTeens Brings Harrison & Rye Brook Students Together with Local Doctors for Career Exploration

NxtUpTeens Founders Hailey & Derek Graffeo with Dr. Jason Sauer and Dr. Michael Graffeo following the NxtUpTeens Career Night in Purchase, NY, where local high school students learn about careers in dentistry, entrepreneurship, and business.

Fifteen high school students from Harrison and Rye Brook gathered in Purchase for a NxtUpTeens career exploration event that offered a firsthand look at the worlds of dentistry, entrepreneurship and business.

Students met with Dr. Michael Graffeo and Dr. Jason Sauer, who shared the personal and professional journeys that led them to careers in dentistry. The doctors discussed their education, experiences and the paths they took to establish their own practices, giving students insight into both the medical and business sides of the profession.

The conversation went beyond what it takes to become a dentist. Dr. Graffeo and Dr. Sauer spoke about starting and running a practice, building a successful career, overcoming challenges and making important decisions along the way. Students were active participants throughout the evening, asking questions about the doctors’ experiences, career choices and the lessons they learned while building their practices.

“I firmly believe that there are no insurmountable obstacles in life,” Graffeo told the students. “If you persevere through adversity and tumultuous times, you will emerge as an unstoppable force.”

Sauer encouraged students to pursue careers and goals that are meaningful to them. “Do what you love, love what you do, and always keep your eye on your prize, no matter what roadblocks appear in front of you,” Sauer said.

The event was organized by NxtUpTeens, a youth-focused organization founded by Hailey and Derek Graffeo to help teenagers explore potential careers by connecting them directly with professionals in a variety of fields.

NxtUpTeens provides students with opportunities to learn about careers through conversations with professionals who can share not only what they do, but also how they got there. The goal is to give teens a better understanding of the education, choices, challenges and experiences that shape different career paths.

The Purchase event is part of the organization’s broader mission of helping teens connect to their futures as they begin considering college, areas of study and future careers.

Governor Kathy Hochul announced a new expansion of her free community college initiative for New Yorkers between ages 25 and 55, as part of her nation-leading actions to proactively address the unprecedented impacts of AI on the workforce. Starting in January, New Yorkers 25 to 55 can enroll in a SUNY or CUNY associate degree program in a high-demand field for free, even if they have already completed a college degree in a different area. The initiative will increase access for tens of thousands more adult learners by allowing individuals with existing credentials to pivot careers and gain valuable qualifications in high-growth sectors such as advanced manufacturing without accumulating debt for tuition, fees, books and supplies.

Governor Hochul: “Now, artificial intelligence and other technologies are transforming businesses, reshaping jobs, changing the skills that workers need to succeed and we’ve looked at this from both sides. Now, employers across New York need more skilled workers. I’ve said that many times. And New Yorkers want better paying jobs and careers, but they can’t necessarily go back to school.”

Hochul: “I’m proud to announce that we’re now offering free community college to tens of thousands more New Yorkers. Starting in January, someone aged 25 to 55 can pursue a high-demand degree, associate’s degree, at SUNY or CUNY tuition free, even if they already have another college degree in another field.”

After seeing Mike Lawler’s tv ad, I have to call him out for his outright lies about Cait Conley’s position on data centers, and his position on energy.

Lawler’s ad took a few words of Cait’s completely out of context: “we need data centers”. The remainder of her statement was calling for regulation and control. Many of us would like to see no additional data centers, but the reality is they’re here. What we need is a leader who understands AI and data centers and will put appropriate safeguards in place. That is Cait Conley-NOT Lawler, who says he’ll protect families, yet there are 5 data centers in his county.

Conley’s policy statement, copied and pasted from her website, states:
 “AI is transforming our country at a rate our current representatives just can’t keep up with. We have seen this story play out with social media companies before. Left unregulated and unchecked, corporations will continue to exploit our weak regulations at the expense of safety, security, and American jobs. We need leaders in Congress willing to put guardrails on this technology. As a former senior executive at the Cybersecurity and Infrastructure Security Agency, Cait understands this technology and its greatest risks. She will be a leader in Congress in advancing safety standards and preparing the workforce for its disruption to our economy. (Emphasis added.)

To read in full what Conley will do and how she will accomplish it, as well as reading other policies of Conley's, please look at caitconley.com/policies.

On energy, Lawler supports fracking, drilling and re-opening Indian Point. Lawler's background is as an executive and lobbyist for groups backed by the fossil fuel and utility industries. (American Journal News) Environmental Organizations, such as the LCV Victory Fund, have criticized his voting record on environmental issues, giving him a 12% rating. (Food & Water Action and LCV Victory website)

Indian Point should never have been built there, above 2 fault lines. If reopened it will be very costly and it will be years of construction. When questioned about the very strong opposition among those who would be affected by it, Lawler's response was "they're wrong".

Cait Conley supports expanding clean energy sources-wind, solar and geothermal, all of which have proven to be very successful with little, if any, negative impact on the environment.

This administration, without even having a vote, cancelled two offshore wind leases in NY and NC and paid $4 BILLION to the foreign countries involved. And not one Republican, including Lawler, did anything to try to stop that. The best thing to do to protect our air, water, land and our health, is to vote for Cait Conley.

The securities industry is a major tax contributor to New York state and New York City through business taxes on profits and personal income taxes on employees' salaries. The industry generated an estimated $26.3 billion in tax revenue for New York state in State Fiscal Year 2025-26, up 28.5% from the previous year and representing 20.8% of all state tax collections. Personal income taxes accounted for 88.3% of securities industry-related state tax receipts. As the outlook improved, the state revised its expectations for bonuses in the broader finance and insurance sector upward, from a projected 4.9% increase to a 7.3% increase. The securities industry generated an estimated $7.8 billion in tax revenue for New York City in City Fiscal Year (CFY) 2026, up 15.8% from the previous year, representing 9.2% of the city's total tax collections. The $7.8 billion exceeded the previous record of $6.9 billion in CFY 2022 by 12.2%. About two-thirds (66%) of the industry's tax contribution came from personal income taxes, with securities industry receipts accounting for nearly one-quarter (24%) of the city's total personal income tax collections.

Yorktown High School SAIL Program Makes Donation to Yorktown Food Pantry

Yorktown High School's SAIL program recently made another generous donation to the Yorktown Food Pantry, continuing a partnership that began last school year. Under the leadership of Ms. Livermore, students collect used toner cartridges from YHS and recycle them at Staples, earning points that can eventually be used to purchase items for donation. Students also collect and recycle many of the water bottles used at YHS, with those proceeds contributing to future donations.

As part of their community-based instruction, students review supermarket advertisements to identify sales, work within a budget, and purchase items requested by the Yorktown Food Pantry. For this donation, students purchased five boxes of pasta, seven cans of tuna, two jars of tomato sauce, and three boxes of cereal.

The SAIL program plans to make one or two additional donations to the Yorktown Food Pantry this school year. Great job!

Kathy Hochul or Bruce Blakeman:

The choice is obvious!

Op-Ed by Cliff Jackson

Governor Kathy Hochul is running against Nassau County Executive Bruce Blakeman for governor. The big difference between the two is , as Governor Hochul said in reference to an incident recently ” the fragility of life.”

Bruce Blakeman does not understand what that means. Kathy Hochul does. Politicians in general can be quite mendacious democrat or republican. Bruce Blakeman is a racist aka MAGA who looks to support and reinforce the maga agenda of racism , xenophobia and disdain for anyone who is not apart of that.

I am not supporting Kathy Hochul because she is from Buffalo and I am a gradute of The university of Buffalo , but because she ,within the parameters of being a poliltician ,understands how fragile life is and will not allow for the callous treatment of others especially those who are poor and are indigent. This indiifference to those who are black, poor and are not a part of the maga crowd is who Bruce Blakeman is.

He demonstrated this with his connection to the Reagan family where he was a driver for Nancy Reagan in the 1980’s. Blakeman held a rally supporting Daniel Penny, the man accused of killing a homeless man who was soliciting on a subway car. His support was a very loud dog whistle as far as Blakemans white supremacy because this case was an extremely racially charged one.

His constant refrain is the repealing of the bail reform laws that is another racial dog whistle along with his claim that Nassau county is the safest county in the country. I have seen this type of behavior from people like Blakeman before especially with the Lilly white demographics of his administration that is conveyed even more with his all white police department and his commissioner Patrick Ryder who does his bidding.

Mike Lipetri who is a Trump acolyte like Blakeman and running agsinst Congressman Tom Suozzi has a similar profile to Blakeman. Kathy Hochul will not and has not cut snap or medicaid as the Trump administration has with Blakemans support. Blakeman and his supporters have the same mentality that you hear with the code terms “good people” and “good families.” Which applies specifically to white people and especially middle class white America.

I saw this kind of racism for 40 years working in financial services/ Wall Street. What he does not understand, as well as many other people who think like him, is that institutional racism from banks, insurance companies and fha loans and GI Bills where mortgage loans were given specifically to whites . If it wasn’t for that support white suburbia would not exist.

Blakeman has been criminal with his support of detention centers across the country and in Nassau county where Blakeman in his racism ignores and claims to know nothing about the treatment of black and brown people in these facilities. People in these places are not being fed properly, eating molded food and are dealing with sleep deprivation.

Blakemans’ plan as a future governor is no different than Trump. Cutting all kinds of safety nets for the poor as well as destroying health care and support for the lgbtq plus community. Unfortunately he has allies like Mazi Philips as well as some other people of color who are thoroughly colonized in their thinking and promote Blakemans racism and xenophobia because they are sycophants.

Bruce Blakeman should not be governor of NY. He is someone that will reinforce the many evils of Donald Trump and as a recent commercial indicates, “Bruce Blakeman is a puppet for Donald Trump.” Does anybody outside of MAGA really want that?

How to Study the Bible:

How Does God Protect His Word?

God is not haphazard in how He uses words. Every word is there for a reason. One of the reasons for using the King James Version is because it clearly indicates by the use of italics, words that were added by the translators but were not in the original texts[1]. Words added by men which are not the original inspired Word of God. They might be useful but they might be misleading or erroneous. (Consider: if you dictated a letter or memo to someone and they added things without your permission, they could change or distort the meaning of what you originally said and meant.)

One of the things most people don’t know about Jesus Christ is that he was a rabbi. He taught in the synagogues. In the Temple, he taught in the Women’s Court, the Court of the Gentiles, Solomon’s Porch, and the Court of Israel. (Eastern culture separated men from women in their temples. Even today some synagogues separate men and women and most mosques have separate areas for women.) Jesus Christ also taught in people’s homes. Most of the time he spoke God’s Word without having a scroll in his hand because he had memorized it. After his ascension home fellowships became the primary teaching venue of the early Christian church.

As we read being thoughtfully aware of key words and not rushing over them will shed light on many Biblical records. “ In the last day, that great day of the feast [Tabernacles/Sukkoth], Jesus stood and cried, saying, If any man thirst, let him come unto me, and drink. He that believeth on me, as the scripture hath said, out of his belly shall flow rivers of living water. (But this spake he of the spirit, which they that believe on him should receive: for the holy spirit was not yet given; because that Jesus was not yet glorified.) Many of the people therefore, when they heard this saying, said, Of a truth this is the Prophet. Others said, This is the Christ. But some said, Shall Christ come out of Galilee? Hath not the scripture said, That Christ cometh of the seed of David, and out of the town of Bethlehem, where David was?” (John7:37-42)

Here we see different opinions regarding Jesus Christ. Some understood and believed that he was the Messiah. Others got hung up on the detail of where the Messiah would be born, even though that prophecy did not say anything about where he would live. What these “others” did not know is that while Jesus Christ was born in Bethlehem, the city of David. Mary and Joseph did not live in Bethlehem except for a short period of time after his birth. They went to Bethlehem for the taxing/census by order of the occupying Roman government, because they were of the house of David. But after the Magi departed God showed Joseph (Jesus’s stepfather) that Herod would try to murder him, the family left and went to Egypt, which, though also part of the Roman empire was ruled directly by the Roman Emperor Augustus and not by relatives of Herod. The prophesy of Micah 5:2 “But thou, Bethlehem Ephratah, though thou be little among the thousands of Judah, yet out of thee shall he come forth unto me that is to be ruler in Israel; whose goings forth have been from of old, from everlasting” had been fulfilled.

The family stayed in Egypt until Herod was dead, but when they returned, they lived in Nazareth of Galilee, not Judea, because Herod’s son Archelaus was reigning in Judea. When Jesus went into the areas of Judea and Samaria, people knew was that he was FROM Galilee; it was obvious because the Galileans in Northern Israel, spoke a different dialect of Aramaic than the Judeans and Southern Israel. But the fact that he was not born there, but in Bethlehem remained, but was hidden from them. Obviously Mary and Joseph were not going around broadcasting it.

The (apparently) politically and socially ordinary family had an advantage that the murderous Herod and the occupying Roman government did not—the ability to receive revelation from GOD and knowledge of the Scriptures. “But when he (Joseph) heard that Archelaus did reign in Judaea in the room of his father Herod, he was afraid to go thither: notwithstanding, being warned of God in a dream, he turned aside into the parts of Galilee: And he came and dwelt in a city called Nazareth: that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophets, He shall be called a Nazarene.” (Matthew 2:22, 23) Nazareth was where Mary and Joseph had grown up, and where they lived after they were married. Some things are written in God’s Word; others are both written and spoken. The detail that the Messiah would be from Nazareth was hidden from most because it was only spoken, not written, and not readily accessible to unbelievers and enemies. One word mattered and shows how God protected His Word and His son. Many years later, after Jesus Christ’s mission was accomplished, God had the relevant information written down in the gospels.

But there were indications in other parts of Scripture that the Messiah would bring the light to Galilee as well. ”Nevertheless the dimness shall not be such as was in her vexation, when at the first he lightly afflicted the land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali, and afterward did more grievously afflict her by the way of the sea, beyond Jordan, in Galilee of the nations. The people that walked in darkness have seen a great light: they that dwell in the land of the shadow of death, upon them hath the light shined.” (Isaiah 9:1-2) There were greater implications amd broader applications would not be realized and understood until the ministry of Paul.brought the Word of God to the Gentiles. Galilee was not only a part of Israel, it was an area with a diverse population and a crossroads for trade and commerce.

The full implications and understanding of a prophecy are not evident until it comes to pass. The prophets knew that there would be a period of time between the Messiah's torture and death and his glory and reign—but neither what would happen in that period nor how long it would last. People who studied the Scriptures knew that the Messiah would be born in Bethlehem, but not the circumstances that surrounded his birth, which is why the Magi went first to Jerusalem expecting that the Messiah and king of the line of David would be in the capital city. And the Roman approved King Herod, who was not of God's chosen lineage of King David, didn't have a clue. Nor did all the elites in Jerusalem. “Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judaea in the days of Herod the king, behold, there came wise men from the east to Jerusalem, saying, Where is he that is born King of the Jews? for we have seen his star in the east, and are come to worship him. When Herod the king had heard these things, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him. And when he had gathered all the chief priests and scribes of the people together, he demanded of them where Christ should be born. And they said unto him, In Bethlehem of Judaea: for thus it is written by the prophet, And thou Bethlehem, in the land of Juda, art not the least among the princes of Juda: for out of thee shall come a Governor, that shall rule my people Israel.” (Matthew 2:1-6)

Rabbi Kirt A. Schneider in several of his books and articles, quotes the Amplified version's rendering of Isaiah 9:1, 2. The Amplified adds explanatory information based on what became known when the prophecy was fulfilled. "But there will be no more gloom for her who was in anguish [for with judgment comes the promise of salvation]. In earlier times He treated the land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali with contempt, but later on He will make them honored [by the presence of the Messiah], by the way of the sea, on the other side of Jordan, Galilee of the Gentiles." The parts in the brackets are not in the original scripture, but were added information based on what had come to pass after the original scripture was written down.

How did some people know what was only spoken by the prophets? They memorized Scripture. “This book of the law shall not depart out of thy mouth; but thou shalt meditate therein day and night, that thou mayest observe to do according to all that is written therein: for then thou shalt make thy way prosperous, and then thou shalt have good success.” (Joshua 1:8) Those who would teach memorized great amounts of Scripture, and Jewish kings were required to write out their own copy of the Old Testament law. “Thy word have I hid in mine heart, that I might not sin against thee.” (Psalm `119:11) Devilish men may try to hide the truth by burning books and killing people, but they cannot destroy the Word of God.

On October 2, 2026, officers conducted additional patrols following a report of a suspicious individual who potentially matched the description provided in the earlier incident. Officers located and interviewed a male matching the description. Following an investigation, the individual was identified as the suspect in the September 30 incident.

robust advertising campaigns promoting their credentials for the office and discrediting each other's positions on a wide variety of issues. District 17 includes Rockland and Putnam counties and parts of Westchester and Dutchess.

Similar to other accusations against Lawler, Conley's latest claim that Lawler had a role in the approval of five data centers in Rockland County has been soundly refuted by two media outlets.

For the past two months, Conley has told voters that “on Mike Lawler’s watch, there have been five data centers built in Rockland County.” She posted it Aug. 19 and Aug. 25 and repeated in the Sept. 28 News 12 debate.

The Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee has also promulgated the attack, accusing Lawler of “$80 billion in tax breaks” for “data center developers.”

The Journal News, the dominant daily newspaper in District 17, and WNYC's Brian Lehrer Show have both reported that Conley's claims are not true.

In a front-page story in today's online editions of The Journal News, the newspaper indicated "There are no obvious links between Lawler and the state centers built in his town (Orangetown)."

Earlier this week, Brian Lehrer asked Timmy Facciola, founder of the Judge Street Journal, to examine this issue. Lawler was sworn in January, 2023 and four of the data centers were built prior to 2021. The one exception, DataBank's Orangeburg facility, was approved by the Orangetown Planning Board in 2022, also before he took office.

The rest of her attack fails the same test. The law she cites for “$80 billion in tax breaks to data center companies” does not contain the words “data center.” Interestingly, two AI big tech companies have paid Conley $328,283, Hidden Level and Primer, since January 2025, according to her financial disclosure, filed May 19, 2026.

Conley's campaign did not return an email request for comment by the Yonkers Times.

“Cait Conley’s false claims against Mike should be a red flag for voters,” said Ciro Riccardi, Lawler’s Campaign Manager. “Cait Conley has taken $328,283 from two AI companies and still won’t say what she does for the money. One candidate in this race has a data center problem, and it isn’t Mike.

This all fits into a plan by Westchester Democrats to WIN IT ALL, and take every office currently occupied by a Westchester Republican, and there ain't that many left. We understand that when a Democrat steps forward to run for office, those in power in the Democratic Party have no real choice but to back their campaign against the Republican. But if you ask them in secret whether they want to defeat all Republicans, some would say no; it is better to have some opposition with little or no power. We also know that many of the same Westchester Democrats would say the #1 annoying Republican in county government is Legislator James Nolan, and they can't wait to see him go. But that will require more support, funding, and campaign work on the trail with Democrat Kisha Skipper. Or maybe the belief is that, with Governor Kathy Hochul on top of the ticket this year after changing NYS Election law, Democrats are hoping a Blue Wave of Democratic support will wash away candidates like James Nolan and other Westchester Republicans. Good luck with that.

Yonkers First Latinx Punk Festival
QUÉMALO PUNK, Debuts This Halloween

Art by: Olafh Ace

The inaugural festival brings Latinx punk, alternative music, and Mexican cultural traditions together in the heart of Yonkers on October 31.

This Halloween, Yonkers will welcome its first Latinx punk festival with the debut of Quémalo Punk, taking place Saturday, October 31, 2026 at Yonkers Brewing Co. Created by Mexican American organizers with deep roots in New York’s DIY punk community, Quémalo was born from a desire to create something that has been missing in Westchester: a festival where Latinx identity, punk music, and culture exist unapologetically in the same space. The inaugural festival will feature Downtown Boys as headliners, ¡Fuakata!, Muelas, Hauasipongo, Rauli V, Los Gueys, Maintenance, We Are Not Our Bodies, L-Punk, and No Weapons.
